3. CRR Cost Adjustment

CRR cost will be calculated on the basis of Cash Reserve Requirement as set by the State Bank of Pakistan at the time of premature encashment. This is only applicable for term deposits which are booked for a year or above but are premature before one year.

The premature encashment cost/charge will be recovered from the accrued profit and or principal amount. Principal deduction may be done in case of term deposit having profit pay out frequency other than at maturity.

(Business head or person with authority delegated can lower or waive the above mentioned penalty in view of relationship, other business & customer service considerations)

p) FCY Term Deposits In case of premature encashment of FCY Term deposits, the expected rate of return corresponding to the last completed tenure will be applied on the number of days the deposit amount has remained with the bank. No profit will be paid in case of encashment before the completion of one month.

c) Term Deposit (For 3 Years) As agreed with the customer at the time of deposit placement.
